About the Program

JobGen® provides a road map that accompanies job seekers on their quest for a new career path.

Their journey through the program will begin by answering questions aimed to help identify their personal traits and working style. They will then be led through a series of steps tailored to suit their individual needs. Each step will offer resources, information and inspirational stories from people who have “been there” to help guide and support job seekers on their journey.

Each step is designed to inspire and engage job seekers. They are challenged to consider the larger picture of what they want from their next career in steps such as “Happiness”, “A New Way to See” and “Passion.” They are also given practical tools and focus with steps like “Networking”, “Initial Contact” and “My Goals.” While working on each step, seekers are encouraged to create action lists.

Along the way job seekers will be able to connect with JobGen® mentors online and request personal assistance while progressing through the steps. Working with a mentor who is already active within a job seeker’s field of interest can offer a tremendous advantage when seeking employment.

As seekers explore career opportunities, work with their mentor and refine their networking skills through the JobGen® program, employment opportunities will materialize.

Sponsor Job Seekers

Foundations, church groups, philanthropies, government agencies, school boards, and companies laying off employees, now have access to a new method of helping unemployed job seekers find or create their own jobs.

As a sponsor, you can directly affect a person's ability to achieve employment, by giving them the opportunity to work through the 80-step JobGen® program, and change their lives.

Sign up as a sponsor and receive printed or electronic tickets that you can distribute to those whom you wish to help.

Through an online portal, you may track the participation and success of all your ticket recipients, giving you unprecedented feedback into the effectiveness of your sponsorship dollars.
